

SUSTAINABLE BUSINESS – FRAUENTHAL GNOTEC

THIS CODE OF CONDUCT describes how we should behave in different circumstances and situations for a sustainable business. It is based on the 10 principles laid down in the UN Global Compact, which covers human rights, labour, the environment and anticorruption.

The Code of Conduct applies to all Frauenthal Gnotec companies and to all employees in the Frauenthal Gnotec Group, regardless of local standards. It should guarantee a high level of quality in everything we undertake.

All employees have individual responsibility for being aware of and complying with the rules and guidelines that ensue from this Code of Conduct. The term 'individual responsibility' also implies responsibility for reporting any breach of this Code of Conduct to the CEO, CFO or Head of Human Resources of Frauenthal Gnotec Group. Contact details available on our website or through the switchboard. As part of our commitment to this Code, anyone who reports a deviation shall be safe guarded from personal negative consequences for the 'whistle blowing'. Any attempt to suppress such information or individual will lead to disciplinary and/or legal action.

Ask yourself "Am I doing the right thing in this situation? Is this for the best of Frauenthal Gnotec? Is it according to the law? If this became public, would I be proud of how I handled it?"
